Editorial Review

From the Inside Flap

"One of the most intelligent books ever written about the psychology of artistic creativity. . . . as relevant to the present situation of psychology as it is to the present situation of art."

--John Russell, The Sunday Times (London)

"In his remarkable study he has evolved an altogether new psychology of the artist and the art-work which accounts particularly for the development, significance, possibilities and limitations of modern abstract art."

--The Times Literary Supplement
