Contending Visions of the Middle East: The History and Politics of Orientalism (The Contemporary Middle East) By Zachary Lockman

Zachary Lockman's informed and thoughtful history of European Orientalism and US Middle East studies, the 'clash of civilizations' debate and America's involvement in the region has become a highly recommended and widely used text since its publication in 2004. The second edition of Professor Lockman's book brings his analysis up to date by considering how the study of the Middle East has evolved in the intervening years, in the context of the US occupation of Iraq and the 'global war on terror'.

Editorial Review

Review

"Lockman's book will be widely read. There can be no doubt that the subject is an important one, not just to those in the field of Middle East Studies, but to the academic community and to a segment of the general public as well. As the book argues, a knowledge of the history of Middle East Studies is vital in assessing arguments put forward by academics, pundits and politicians."

Edmund Burke III, Department of History, University of California, Santa Cruz

"...a well crafted piece of historical synthesis, based on a wide array of secondary sources."

International Journal
