Domestic Violence in Diverse Contexts: A Re-examination of Gender (Routledge Advances in Health and Social Policy) By Sarah Wendt, Lana Zannettino

Overwhelmingly, it is women who are the victims of domestic violence and this book puts women's experiences of domestic violence at its centre, whilst acknowledging their many diverse and complex identities.

Concentrating on the various forms of domestic abuse and its occurrence and manifestations within different contexts, it argues that gender is centrally implicated in the unique factors that shape violence across all these areas. Individual chapters outline the experiences of:

- Mothers
- Older women
- Women with religious affiliations
- Refugee women
- Rural women
- Aboriginal women
- Women in same-sex relationships
- Women with intellectual disabilities.

Exploring how domestic violence across varying contexts impacts on different women's experiences and understandings of abuse, this innovative work draws on post-structural feminist theory and how these ideas view, and potentially allow, gendered explanations of domestic violence. Domestic Violence in Diverse Contexts is suitable for academics and researchers interested in issues around violence and gender.

Editorial Review

Review

"For professionals interested in working in the area of family violence, this book provides information not typically found in most of the professional literature on the topic. The depth of the exploration associated with this book is unequalled and should be applauded... Summing Up: Essential. Professionals." - D.A. Mathews, Salisbury University, in CHOICE, May 2015
